

Kay Slarna

I mostly like what you propose, but I'm concerned that it doesn't go far enough. I would add that you limit untested industrial inputs to municipal waste. And if your lab tests only look for a couple PFAS, I think you should do frequent but cheaper testing by testing for total fluoride or total absorbable fluoride, then follow up results with high fluoride with the more expensive tests.