

Justin Femrite

We are also for protecting the environment and doing the right thing. The "right thing" in this case is to comply with Federal law relating to regulation. Extending beyond it just continues an approach that is ever more costly on all Minnesotans. This is a space that could be considered over-regulated already while presenting that it's all "for the environmental good". I stress that we too are mindful of the environment, but our taxpayers are continuing to share their thoughts that they can't afford services.