I'd like to say that Liberty Classical Academy is a good school and I support them in what they are doing. I've witnessed a small but vocal campaign filled with misinformation and some (but not all) anti-Christian bias trying to prevent their facility from being built. It is sad to see in a community like ours. As long as they are following regulations and proper procedures, they should be treated equally and normal procedures should be followed. No exceptions against or in favor of them should be made.
