

Jon Schneider

I support denying the water quality permit variance requested by US Steel. Protection of our water quality and wild rice is paramount. The mining industry should simply accommodate this regulatory standard. Permitting variances to water quality regulations simply to lower industrial costs to lower pollution in 2025 is simply inappropriate. Thanks for your consideration of my perspective on this issue.