

Julie Morgan

Two hundred and eighty-eight years ago, our country promised Anishinaabe people the right of "gathering the wild rice, upon the lands, the rivers and the lakes included in the territory ceded," forever." These same promises were repeated and extended in the treaty of 1855.

Now US steel wants us to renege on our promises. This must not happen. Promises made in good faith can not be broken. I ask you to enforce the 10 mg/L sulfate standard without variance, and require U.S. Steel to clean up its own mess.