

Jennifer Gasperini

Nothing is more important than clean water. Minnesota leaders must do everything they can to protect our waters and, in turn, habitat for wild rice and other flora and fauna for generations to come. We cannot back down to help mining companies profit off our precious resources.