

Janet Woehrle

I support the MPCA's decision to deny the variance requested by US Steel from the sulfate water quality standard for waters used for the production of wild rice. I do feel that the compliance schedule for April 2030 is too long and should be shorter. Discharging 7.03 million gallons of water/day with sulfate pollution to area waters over the next 5 years can do significant damage to MN waters and wild rice.