

Elizabeth Olstad

Please consider your moral obligation to respect the rights of Anishinaabe people and the land that is sacred to them. Their land and treaties been taken and/or diminished too many times. You can now do the right thing for them by not invading and polluting land that should remain sustainable and holy. Your actions will impact all people and future generations so a future-oriented perspective is absolutely needed. Stop pollution now!