

Terry Carlson

The anti-mining groups don't care about the environment regarding both the wastewater mine permit and the tailings basin permit--this nothing more than a political move. WE LIVE HERE--no one cares more about our ground water more than we do. We're up-to-date on all the science and know that mining (both ferrous and non-ferrous) is safe, while groups like Friends of the Boundary Waters--a St. Paul group--and their party hacks think nothing of dispensing wild propaganda. And no one cares more about what it means to keep our kids here for good paying jobs and bring back those who reluctantly moved to the Twin Cities, Fargo, and elsewhere to find work than we do. Please APPROVE THESE PERMITS and let us get to work!