

Diane Flakne

I understand the need for mining, but the ecology has already been compromised for years. Along with scientific studies and conclusions thereof, I believe that, as stated by the Minnesota Pollution Control agency and the MPCA, United States Steel Corporation has a moral duty to forego an outrageous increase in profits for the sustainability of plants and wildlife being threatened.