I live a short distance from the Mississippi River and take the Ford Parkway Bridge into Highland Park on a weekly basis. I believe it is Ford's responsibility to clean up the waste left behind from their plant. Future generations as well as people living down river should not have to worry about the quality of river water. Now is the time to put the effort and funding into completely resolving the problem. We all need to be better stewards of the river and that requires making wise choices, not easy ones.
