

James Vlazny

We need area C cleaned up. Leaving the containers buried will just leave a major problem for future generations, and ensuring that a major pollution situation occurs causing death and destruction to plants, animals, fish, and people along the Mississippi River.

I believe all that contributed to the dumping in area c be responsible for their contributions/dumpings, and that they share in the cost and cleanup operations.

We cannot leave this pollution time bomb sit any longer and need it cleaned up, before area c devastates the largest river in the United States and creates a major problem and dead zone, besides the effects of leaching to human drinking water over an extremely large area.