

I've lived in Stevens County for more than 30 years and farmed here for 18 years. In that time, I've seen how much Riverview contributes to our community. They partner with local farmers to raise silage, alfalfa and other crops needed to feed their cattle, providing a lot of opportunities locally for our crops. They also provide manure for our crops that we have seen improve our overall cropping system. They follow best practices when applying manure. Their sites are clean and contained.

This expansion would bring new jobs to the area, which means more families and more students for our rural communities and schools. Riverview's presence supports our county in more ways than just economically, and I believe this project will continue to have that positive impact. Riverview has always gone above and beyond in being a great neighbor in our community. For these reasons, I fully support MPCA to approve the expansion permit for West River Dairy.

Thank you,

Travis Moser
