

Rob Super

I am very concerned about near-term and long-term impacts of this project. Specifically, I share all the concerns being expressed by the Land Stewardship Project. I now live in Saint Paul but I grew up in a small community in northwestern Minnesota and I understand the negative impacts projects of this size impose on local environments.

I am especially concerned about the precedent that would be set by not requiring an environmental impact statement for this project. I see the EIS as a necessity for this project and others like it.