Hello,

I am very concerned about this proposed expansion due to the effects on the animals themselves and the neighbors' air and water quality. CAFO operations routinely disrupt the quality of life of the surrounding people due to the amount of waste a concentrated amount of animals produce, not to mention the accompanying issues like increased traffic by milk tanker trucks. I also highly doubt this many animals on one farm can live a healthy, disease-free life.

Please know I am a big-time dairy fan- my family drinks about 2 gallons a week of milk- and I am very much opposed to this project. Please study the issue to determine if this many animals can live in close quarters without disrupting the air, water, and quality of life of the people in the surrounding area.

Thank you!
