

Josh VanDerPol

I would request that you require an EIS. These Riverview sites are not farm scale, but industrial scale. They need to be regulated at the highest possible level to protect our shared environment and water resources. The amount of water pulled from the ground is very concerning for anyone on the same aquifer. The size that they are if something goes wrong with manure application or storage it would be disastrous.