As a local resident and community member, I'm very concerned about the potential environmental impacts of a project of this size. This project would apparently more than double the size of Riverview's dairy operation in Stevens County, with the final size being almost twice as large as the next largest livestock operation in our state in terms of animal units. A proposal of this type seems worthy of some careful consideration about its possible impacts. Riverview had a previous manure spill in 2025 and we should be mindful of what could happen when things do not go exactly according to plan with an operation of this size.
