

Mike Quale

My name is Mike Quale; I want to express my support for their operation and their proposed expansion in Stevens County.

Riverview runs a top tier operation. Their facilities are clean, they care for the land, they support local communities, and they provide excellent care for their livestock. From what I have observed, they follow a long list of rules and regulations and consistently demonstrate that they are committed to doing things the right way.

Operations like Riverview bring significant value to the local agricultural community. For example:

1. They provide manure for fertilizer, reducing dependence on foreign produced fertilizers that are often controlled by a small number of global suppliers.

2. They give local farmers an additional market for their crops, increasing demand and strengthening local basis levels. This adds value to all producers in the area, regardless of their stance on this specific project.

Projects like this contribute meaningfully to rural America by supporting agricultural sustainability, economic opportunity, and community vitality. Based on my experience as a nearby resident, I fully support Riverview Dairy's expansion project in Stevens County.

Sincerely,

Mike Quale

MIKE QUALE

My name is Mike Quale; I want to express my support for their operation and their proposed expansion in Stevens County.

Riverview runs a top-tier operation. Their facilities are clean, they care for the land, they support local communities, and they provide excellent care for their livestock. From what I have observed, they follow a long list of rules and regulations and consistently demonstrate that they are committed to doing things the right way.

Operations like Riverview bring significant value to the local agricultural community. For example:

1. They provide manure for fertilizer, reducing dependence on foreign-produced fertilizers that are often controlled by a small number of global suppliers.
2. They give local farmers an additional market for their crops, increasing demand and strengthening local basis levels. This adds value to all producers in the area, regardless of their stance on this specific project.

Projects like this contribute meaningfully to rural America by supporting agricultural sustainability, economic opportunity, and community vitality. Based on my experience as a nearby resident, I fully support Riverview Dairy's expansion project in Stevens County.

Sincerely,
Mike Quale