

Michael Finn

An expansion of this magnitude proximity must justify the completion of an environmental assessment. Minnesota's land, water, and wildlife are one of our greatest assets and worth protecting against the potential risks of storage and distribution of manure, runoff, and other contaminants. Thank you for your attention to this matter