Absolutely an EIS for starters; tho I live in Wisconsin now, I am well aware of the huge negative impacts CAFOs have everywhere; there are good reasons for supporting small farms, understanding why we need to limit our appetites for meat and dairy, including running out of water, the spread of disease among animals, the use of antibiotics which will affect human health, and the pollution to air, water, and soil from the enormous amounts of manure, etc. Biohazards need to be considered as well, and the treatment of animals is reprehensible. I don't believe current analysis by West Dairy would meet the standards we perhaps need to raise. Thank you for the EIS! We are trying to get more of them in Wisconsin as well as strong ordinances.
