

Linus Meyer

It is not a good idea to concentrate all of these nutrients from mass storage in one location. Sooner or later a huge spillage will occur and pollute an entire watershed. The livestock and manure need to be spread out over numerous counties.