Corporate farming is horrible. It's horrible for the animals which in turn means horrible for those drinking and eating dairy. Horrible for the environment. PERIOD! We either pay for healthy cows to supply us with healthy dairy products or we pay at the doctors when we are sick. As a 2x cancer survivor I want sustainable (organic) farming practices, which lead to healthy produce, as well as livestock. That IS the opposite of Corporate farming.

We need to save the small family farms.
