

Monica Ledesma

My name is Monica, and I have been living in Hancock for the past seven years. I live close to Riverview Dairies and have had the opportunity to observe their commitment to operating responsibly within the community. Based on what I have seen, I support the proposed expansion of the dairy farm.

Riverview has demonstrated strong standards when it comes to site cleanliness, organization, and overall management. I have also seen their efforts toward environmental protection and maintaining a well-kept operation, which is important for those of us who live nearby.

In addition to these practices, this expansion would bring positive benefits such as job opportunities, economic growth, and continued support for the local agricultural industry. For these reasons, I believe this project is a positive step forward for our community.
