

Kurt Schulz

Rural Minnesota has been ravaged enough by industrial scale agriculture, especially dairy. It has driven out small family farms, is an environmental risk, a biological threat and is responsible for the depopulation of rural towns, schools and hospitals.

Enough. This should be a resounding NO !