Today's money grab industries should really feel how the communities and environment can and will be affected from decisions that are solely based on profits.

The impact that this will have to our water sources and environments are and can be detrimental to a wide range of areas. The Pomme de ter reaches into three other major water sources and if you think there won't be an impact done because of runoff and seepage you are mistaken.

This is a no-brainer and it should be stopped from happening. Not to mention the little farms that it will crush a long the way. Absolutely disgusting and when you think of rural Minnesota you definitely don't see this as being a community driven outcome.

Stop this from happening.
