

Heather Waye

I understand that Riverview has applied for an expansion that would result in an operation double the size of the next largest livestock operation in Minnesota (in terms of number of animals). The proposed site in Stevens County, where I live, will be very close to more than a few protected waterfowl and wildlife production areas. Riverview has a history of manure spills in our area and inappropriate use of water resources in Arizona. This proposed project will have a major impact throughout our county, the Pomme de Terre watershed, and communities and habitats downstream. Therefore, this proposed project must be required to undergo a full and thorough Environmental Impact Statement.