

Joe Koehl

I think it is a good thing for me and my operation it gives me some extra employment opportunity. It's another place in the area to market crops. It's another crop nutrient opportunity so you don't have to import so much commercial fertilizer this can help organic crop farms