The West River dairy expansion, proposed by Riverview LLP, is a project that must be preceded by an EIS. The size of this project is something MN has not seen before and must be measured and evaluated through the accepted methods of an EIS.

I believe that careful evaluation of projects like this can ensure rural Minnesota's environment is protected, and that agriculture can thrive.

With a project of this size, the mpca should NOT set a new precedent of not evaluating effectively. For the healthy future of Minnesota's farm economy and water quality, require the EIS for the West Dairy Expansion.
