

Shane Seeger

I recently began working as a contractor on a Riverview Dairy project, and it's immediately clear they operate to an exceptional environmental standard. Their farms are consistently clean, well-managed, and thoughtfully run, with practices that reflect genuine care for sustainability, animal welfare, and responsible agriculture.

Riverview Dairy is a strong example of modern, environmentally conscious farm management.

Based on what I've seen, I'm confident the new facility will be maintained with the same level of cleanliness, care, and professionalism