

David Kortan

Expansion of this magnitude would be disastrous for the community in terms of the massive amount of water usage, electricity drain on the electrical grid, and massive manure that could effect ground water pollution. Also I would like to know who owns all of their dairy operations and all of the farmland it takes to feed the cows. China? Bottom line is it's not good for the smaller dairies or Morris