

Gail Johnson

No. Provide more opportunities to the young independent generation of farmers to take over and manage their family farms. Excessive water use and concentrated gastly waste managment can not creep into Minnesota. The pararie lakes, rivers, beautifully scenic crop fields, and vacation areas are too precious to the Minnesota economy.