

Kedron Nohl

I live in Stevens County and have had the opportunity to observe multiple Riverview sites. From both an operational and environmental standpoint, I have consistently seen a high level of care, cleanliness, and attention to detail in how their facilities are managed and how their cattle are treated.

Riverview partners with local farmers to grow silage, alfalfa, and other crops used to feed their animals, creating valuable opportunities for local agriculture. Their manure management practices also support a sustainable cycle by returning nutrients to the land, which I have seen benefit crop production. Manure application is highly regulated, and Riverview is held to a high standard in how it is stored, handled, and applied. From what I have observed, they take these responsibilities seriously and consistently meet those expectations.

In my experience, Riverview operates in compliance with regulations and is mindful of its impact on neighbors, roads, and the surrounding community. Their sites are well-maintained and reflect a strong commitment to environmental stewardship.

The proposed West River expansion would bring additional jobs and support to local families, schools, and the broader community. Riverview has proven to be a strong partner and a good neighbor, and I believe this project will continue with that positive impact.

For these reasons, I fully and respectfully support the approval of the West River Dairy Expansion and believe the Environmental Assessment Worksheet process has been thorough and sufficient.

Thank you,
Kedron Nohl