

Ginny Halloran

This is exactly the opposite of what should be happening with our farming operations. Bigger is not necessarily better, money/profit should not be the determining factor in advocating for the common good. We live in a democracy and it's about time we started acting like it. The Riverview expansion needs an environmental review taking into consideration humans are not the only sentient beings on the planet.