

John Velie

The owners of West River Dairy must be required to file an EIS. They must prove that the massive amount of manure this operation will produce will not negatively impact the groundwater systems in the area and they must prove they have a sanitary plan for disposing of all the dead animals this operation will produce.