

Jon Nohl

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this comment in favor of the West River Dairy Expansion project. As a farmer near multiple Riverview dairy operation's I can say that they are good neighbors. Their dairy's have given us options for marketing crops and purchasing manure (to replace commercial fertilizer) that have brought additional competitiveness to our family farming operation. They are good stewards of the land and natural resources and are great people to work with. I would encourage the respective governmental agency's to approve the expansion project as I believe current environmental review concerning the project is adequate and the project should be allowed to move forward.

Sincerely,

Jon Nohl

Farmer near Hancock, Minnesota