

Owen Anderson

My name is Owen Anderson. I am writing in support of Riverview's proposed West River Dairy expansion in Steven's County. I have had the privilege of working with Riverview over the past two summers, most recently going through the intern program. The internship has provided me with a deeper appreciation of how much Riverview invests in the people and the local communities. Growing up in Morris, I always knew that Riverview was important to the local economy, but working with Riverview showed me the behind the scenes of what it takes to provide that support. A project like this will create new opportunities for people who are wanting to build their careers close to home.
