I'm concerned that the massive data center being planned in Pine Island has not been considered in the design. With this system be able to handle the extra load and contain PFAS that is expected? If not, we are endangering the whole Zumbrot River system by dumping forever chemicals in a river that my family enjoys playing and fishing in. Please take this design more seriously as the treatment of the water in data centers has caused massive issues in other communities, let ours at least plan for the potential destruction before it's too late.
