It is my understanding that the main line from Wanamingo will come into Zumbrota on the west side of town and go through town down west 4th st to the new plant. Is this safe and who is responsible for any damage now or in the future to existing water, sewer and gas lines in the street on the proposed route? We've be told they are planning to bore under the street. With this much waste going under an old street and system is this safe and who will pay if something does go wrong?
