

Dennis Tapley

Necessary, now, perhaps avoiding the sad transfiguration of glorious New Mexico to saddened Los Angeles, from which I was forced to flee under Doctor's orders. Clean car requirement may make it necessary to persuade gas car lovers, like my son in law, and the US government to move to electric, and perhaps the new "solid state battery" may need to make its commercial appearance first. Anyway, start moving now.