

Sylvia Burns

Electric vehicles are so impractical. If the reason is to save the environment, then the lithium that needs to be mined ruins the environment more. They are not affordable. Mandating these vehicles defies all common sense. I'm totally opposed to them.