

Douglas Mapel

I support this policy that encourages transition to clean cars and clean trucks. It must also be supported by increased public and private infrastructure for electric charging stations. The batteries in our vehicle fleets are the obvious daytime repositories for solar energy. Increased access to daytime vehicle charging supported by solar energy will facilitate the transition away from fossil fuel.