

EDITH DILLMAN

I urge you to support the clean cars and advanced truck rules for a healthier, safer, and more sustainable New Mexico. We must transition to all-electric and high-efficiency vehicles. Not only do they protect our environment from dangerous emissions on the road - they also are a path to reduced dependency on fossil fuels. As a professional working on the transition to all-electric homes, I know well the advantages of low maintenance and energy costs for all of our population. Electric is the path, and I support this adoption as a New Mexican! All of us share the benefits and will protect our future and our grandchildren's futures.
