

Christopher Everett

I feel these days there is already an abundance of government overreach. This would just be one more reason. I also feel that while yes electric vehicles are a great idea, theres still great advantages to gas and diesel that in my opinion will never be met by electric Also our infrastructure wouldn't be able to handle all electric.