Electric Trucks are a bad idea, it will take at least 3 electric trucks to do the job of one diesel. Not to mention the Governor shut down the San Juan power plant for what? Thousands of wind generators and solar panels. Yet she and all of you pushing this agenda would all be 1st in line to stop miners from digging up all of the extra concrete, steel, aluminum, lithium copper and whatever else is needed to build all of the extra trucks wind generators and solar panels. Not to mention the huge financial burden on us taxpayers. But none of you care about the impact on normal everyday people. Just push your agenda is all you know.
