

Cate Moses

I run a public school program for homeless children. My clients spend too many days and nights on the streets where they are disproportionately affected by outdoor pollution and excessive heat. They cannot escape it. Sometimes the safest place for them to sleep is on highway property where the pollution is worst.

Please don't let a small group of libertarians and rich businessmen trample the right of New Mexico children to a healthy environment. I hope you will join with 11 other states and choose an outcome which makes our children safer and healthier while helping to roll us back from the brink of climate failure. Yes, there are small sacrifices required, but we will all adapt.