

Beth Lee-Herbert

For the health of our state and our world, it is crucial that we join this effort of other states toward clean vehicles. As we saw with the fire last year, climate change impacts us all, and this is an important effort that ultimately will save lives.