

I am writing to register my strong opposition to the issuance of a Solid Waste permit to Universal Waste Systems for their Broadway Transfer Station.

Since before my service as Representative for House District 10 in 2015, I have heard from Mountain View residents about their concerns regarding the cumulative impact to public health from the sequential locating of multiple waste and other polluting industries in the middle of their neighborhood that also includes Mountain Elementary school and the Kiki Saavedra Community Center. Not only would this transfer station permit add to poor air quality, it is also projected to bring 400 large diesel trucks and their impacts in and out of the neighborhood daily. My constituents are expressing serious concerns with the traffic and public health and wellness impacts of tons of trash from four counties outside our district being hauled along our streets daily. In light of the recent Plastic Recycling Center fire, constituents are also extremely concerned about the adequacy of emergency and decommissioning plans.

I would like to point out that the Mountain View Sector Development Plan, part of a new Country Comprehensive plan, is in process and due for release soon. I urge you to at the very least, put this permit application on hold until this Plan is approved, as that process is involving extensive public input from the residents who have worked hard to settle and improve their properties and raise their children. Now is not the time to issue yet another permit to a private waste business that other communities with more economic power and affluence do not want to accept.

Thank you.