I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed waste dump transfer station in our rural community. This project raises serious concerns about the health and safety of our children, families, and environment. Increased exposure to waste, odors, pollution, and possible contamination could negatively affect the quality of life for everyone living nearby, especially children who are more vulnerable to environmental hazards. In addition, the increased traffic from large trucks would create dangerous road conditions, more noise, and additional wear on our roads. Our community was not designed to handle this type of industrial traffic. There are also concerns about trash, debris, pests, and the long-term impact this facility could have on our land, air, and water. Our rural community values open space, clean air, and a safe environment for families, livestock, and future generations. We ask that you carefully consider the lasting negative effects this transfer station would have on our community and reject this proposal.
