

Andrew Barrett

I am writing to urge you to adopt the PFAS Firefighting Foam Bill rulemaking. It is essential that the State of New Mexico adopt this rulemaking to protect the health and welling of New Mexicans and our state from the harms of aqueous film forming foams (AFFF) and intentionally added AFFF-PFAS in products. PFAS presents very real dangers to our health and wellbeing. There is no safe level for PFAS of any kind. Rejecting this rulemaking will have long-term consequences for New Mexican's long-term health, negative impacts to medical treatment affordability from disease related to prolonged and constant exposure to industrial types and levels of PFAS including AFFFs, as well as the cost of remediation of our waters, lands, and agriculture. Preventing any and all PFAS pollution is critical to the well-being of New Mexicans and the State of New Mexico. Please choose New Mexico, and choose our people, and choose New Mexico to be a leader against AFFFs and other industrial types and levels of PFAS Contamination.