

Sara Padilla

AI data centers use too much water and energy and create too much pollution. I believe that they should not be built anywhere, but most especially in a desert, especially in a time of drought.